COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

Reports have been received from the Maine Forest Service on five samples of elm wood submitted to them for analysis to determine whether or not Dutch Elm Disease is present. Four of the five samples show Dutch Elm Disease trees located as follows: one each on property of Dana Brooks, Faye Taylor, Paul Kailey, in the Kimball Park area; and one at Gladys Johnson's, West Bethel. Sample from the tree on the line between property of Ruth Carver Ames and John Howe was reported sterile. The report did state that another sample should be sent if the tree showed continued wilt and leaves dropping. This has been the case and another sample will be sent in a few days. Samples were not obtained from two elms on property of Norman Dock due to the height of the limbs, but will be obtained when a tree crew is available.

Sincerely,
Harold L. Bean

Remind Drivers of Bus Passing Law

The Maine Highway Safety Committee reminds us that the law is very definite concerning the passing of school buses.

The law reads, in part: "The driver of a vehicle... upon meeting or overtaking from either direction any school bus which has stopped for the purpose of receiving or discharging any school children shall stop the vehicle before passing such school bus and shall not proceed until such school bus resumes motion or until signaled by the school bus driver to proceed."

"Violation of this law not only makes the driver liable under the law," continued the committee, "it is also greatly increases his chances of becoming involved in that most tragic of all traffic accidents—the death of a child."

"Remember," concluded the safety group, "a stopped school bus, loading or unloading children, means STOP!"

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wiley (Priscilla Carver) and family have moved to 443 Locust Lane, Roselle, Ill.

Mrs. Mildred Ackley and several friends from Portland were callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gunther Sunday afternoon.

Donna Rice is a member of the class of student nurses which entered the Central Maine General Hospital School of Nursing, Wednesday.

The tenting and picnicking areas at Littlefield Beaches have become a popular center for both travelers and many local people this summer. Now under the management of Edith and Ivan Morey of West Paris, the improvements made by them this season include the accommodations for 50 tents (with 50 more planned), boat ramp (with boats to let), and a completely modern bath house. Picnic tables and fireplaces are also provided.

The location has been a popular swimming site for many years. Known as Sandy Beach or Haynor's Beach, it was owned for years by the late J. Clinton Littlefield and recently by his son, Haynor, who have reserved the spot for reunions and group picnics. Its location a mile east of Locke Mills on Route 26 is readily reached by the public.

DANCE HELPS EMOTIONAL GROWTH

Because a dance class is free of the competitiveness that pervades most of our lives, each child is encouraged to develop in her own special way, without comparison to others in the group. In such an atmosphere, as well as to appreciate her strengths. For instance, 11 year old Marjie is plump, and has difficulty with some of the technical work. But she is marvelously creative. The teacher, as well as the other children, admire her ideas. Her confidence grows and her heaviness becomes less of a problem to her.

Sandy, at eight, has a sturdy, tightly knit body. She will never be able to do a split-stretch as a torture to her. But she dances with such dramatic intensity that no one cares that her toes are not fully pointed. Another example: Rita is an only child, and has a lithe, well trained body and possesses great self assurance and is obviously used to playing a starring role. In dance class the children complained "She's too bossy." The teacher must help the class to work out this problem themselves. In the process Rita learned that leadership involves more than just telling everybody what to do. As they continued to work together their dances began to reflect the process of sharing ideas and responsibilities. The group work now had a feeling of unity, whereas before it appeared to be an unrelated collection of solos, performed simultaneously.

One frequently hears the comment from parents who have watched an open class, "They are certainly having a ball, but they seem to be just playing." It is true that much dance movement can originate in dramatic play. It becomes the responsibility of the teacher to emphasize and develop the dance elements of such play and help the children to make it an artistic process. To move on the stage from one given spot to another whether it be a difficult grand jeté en tournant or simply a walk—required at a specific moment in a given bar of music is dance. Movement is dance.

If a dance teacher stresses good music in her classes what better way for a child to learn to appreciate classical music—than through dancing lessons. When each note is so vitally important that the ear has to listen intently or miss a step—the music becomes as familiar to a child as a nursery rhyme.

Dance class offers an opportunity to let off steam, both physically and emotionally. Some feelings are more safely or easily expressed in dance movement than in words or direct action. All children are sometimes angry, aggressive or frightened. Because they can't act upon these feelings in the situation that provoked them, after all we can't go around hitting everyone who makes us mad; dance can become a kind of safety valve.

On Sept. 20th at 8 p. m. Mrs. Dorothy Clarke Wilson will talk on the life of the Missionary Dr. Ida Scudder and show slides. Special guests of the Women's Society of Christian Service will be members of the Gales and Ladies Club of the Congregational Church. Anyone is welcome to attend this event.

MORE NOTES ON LOCAL SCENES—THEN AND NOW

We are reminded that over-sights, other than those noted recently were a conspicuous feature of the comparisons with former times around Bethel as first assembled in the Citizen of August 10. An explanation that may serve as some apology for omissions is that stories of the Bethel of 1931 were taken mostly from the special edition of the Citizen at the time of the sesquicentennial celebration of the Indian Raid of August 2, 1781. Some of the prominent folks of that time refused to cooperate with information, and many of the businesses did not take advantage of this newspaper's advertising services.

However, 30 years ago Bethel's pioneer overnight cabins were operated by Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gunther on the Locke Mills road (Route 26). This was in addition to the busy ice business which they carried on, with a large ice house near the pond at the rear of their farm and daily deliveries in the village. Their overnight buildings were removed several years ago.

In addition to the usual hotel facilities, whose history was covered in the August 10 issue, overnight comfort for travelers are now supplied locally by overnight cottages and motels by the Westwell Cabins (Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Burris), West Bethel, and The New Yorker (Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Ernst, Mayville). Also in Mayville is the Red Rooster Motel of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Glines and the nearby Dining Room of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Glines.

The Mayville community outline should also include the Green Gables restaurant of Mr. and Mrs. Oakley Godwin; Ladd's Wayside Inn of Mrs. Mary Ladd; the Riverside Farms dairy, operated by Mrs. Harold Bennett; and the Carter Equipment Company who sell and service the International Harvester line and Lark cars. Thirty years the Riverside Farms buildings were the home of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Chapman who also had a local milk delivery business.

Mayville is also the area where three homes were sacrificed to fire while Bethel pondered the advantages of a modernized fire department. The farm buildings of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bennett were located near where Mr. and Mrs. Paul Carter and Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Glines now live. The buildings formerly of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Smith were on the site of the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Wright, and now vacant is the site of the one-time Baker Thurston place which burned in 1930.

SILVER ANNIVERSARY PARTY SURPRISES HUTCHINSONS

A surprise 25th wedding anniversary party was given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Loton Hutchinson, Saturday evening, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Tinkander. The affair was planned by Mrs. Lloyd Luxton and Mrs. Walter Tinkander on the request of the couple's son, Bartlett.

A 6:30 dinner was served to the guests. A cake was given the honored couple by Mrs. Leona Flint and presented to them by their daughter, Barbara. A money tree was presented and a social evening was enjoyed by all.

Previous to the party, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Bartlett, parents of Mrs. Hutchinson, had presented the honored couple with an antique pitcher, containing a gift of money which had been given to the Bartletts by Mr. Bartlett's mother on their 25th wedding anniversary.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Smith, Sandra, Charles, Brenda and Alice; Mr. and Mrs. Edmund C. Smith; Mr. and Mrs. Carl L. Brown; Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Brown; Laurel, Nancy and Rebecca; John Brown; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Brown and Kurt; the honor guests and their children, David, Kathleen, Carol and Bobby Jack.

HOW TO REAR DELINQUENTS

(1) Begin with infancy to give the child everything he wants. In this way he will grow up believing the world owes him a living.

(2) Never give him any spiritual training until he is 21 and then let him decide for himself. By the same logic, never teach him the English language. Maybe when he is old enough he will want to speak Bantu.

(3) Praise him in his presence to all the neighbors; show how much smarter he is than the neighbor's children.

(4) Avoid the use of the word "wrong." It may develop in the child a "guilt complex." This will prepare him to believe, when he is punished later on for stealing cars or assaulting women, that society is "against him" and that he is being "persecuted."

(5) Pick up everything after him: his shoes, his books, his clothes. Do everything for him so that he will be experienced in throwing burdens on others.

(6) Quarrel frequently in the presence of your children. In this way they will be prepared for broken homes later on.

(7) Give him all the spending money he wants; never let him earn his own.

(8) Take his part against policemen, teachers and neighbors. They are all "prejudiced" against your children.

(9) When he gets into real trouble, always defend yourself and say, "I never could do anything with him"....

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Read Isaiah 52:1-10;

Romans 10:13-17

How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him that bringeth good tidings, that publisheth peace! (Isaiah 52:7)

In all human beings there is a longing to meet something good, yes, a desire to become good in spite of everything, a vestige of the image of God lies deep down in our minds and hearts covered though they may be with dirt and uncleanliness. Deep calls unto deep, and we reach up longingly toward Him toward God—in whose image we are made.

How many times I have met this longing, sometimes seeing it become a flame at the right moment! I have recognized it in the modern atheist in the West, and I have seen it in people in the deep forests of the Congo.

We become rich when we find who is the source of all good and His life becomes our life. We possess that which can dispel the darkness from our lives and take away the night from the lives of others. What an unspeakable joy to have that which gives perspective and meaning to one's life! It makes such a person a messenger of the good news to others.

PRAYER: My God and holy Father, my life is in Thy hands. Grant that I may possess what is worth possessing. Take all other things away. I will hold fast to what Thou hast given me. In the name of our Savior, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven. Amen."

Thought For The Day

We become rich when we find God in the source of all good and His life becomes our life.

"SIGHTING-IN DAYS" ARE GOOD PROJECTS FOR SPORTSMEN'S CLUBS

Sportsmen's clubs in Maine have a fine opportunity to perform a public service this fall by holding sighting-in programs for hunters. By supplying a place and proper assistance to hunters, club members actually provide several benefits.

A properly sighted-in gun gives more hunting enjoyment, produces more clean kills, and increases the chances of success. Still another benefit lies in the opportunity for sportsmen to brush up on the fundamentals of safe gun-handling and good marksmanship.

The Maine Dept. of Inland Fisheries and Game recommends such programs. Information on sight-in projects is available to individuals and organizations by writing to the National Rifle Association, 1600 Rhode Island Ave., N. W., Washington 5, D. C.

To those clubs who sponsor NRA sighting-in days, NRA will send a complete planning guide, a sighting-in handbook, Posters, and other material.
